INCREASE IN SALARIES CREATE LIVELY TILT

Washington, Jan. 15.—An amendment in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, increasing the salary of the president to $100,000, of which the vice president and the speaker of the house to $20,000, with $5,000 additional allowance for carriages and coachmen for the vice president and speaker and increases for the judiciary aggregating $328,500, precipitated a lively discussion in the senate today.

Senator Borah of Idaho made a point of order against these increases on the ground that they involve general rules of the senate, can not be placed upon an appropriation bill in face of a single objection. The debate centered upon the first of the amendments objected to, which was to increase the salary of the speaker of the house of representatives, and various criticisms were called forth against such extensive advance of salaries although many senators without opposing some increase insisted that it should be considered in a separate bill and not on one of the great supply measures of the government.

Without concluding the debate further consideration of the amendments was postponed until next Monday and at 5:05 the senate adjourned.

KERN HAS SOMETHING TO SAY REGARDING CAUCUS.
Indianapolis, Jan. 15.—"I shall have something to say tomorrow that will be plain and specific," said John W. Kern. "When I make my statement, I think it will make them jump some." This was said with reference to the story that Kern believes he was beaten for the senatorship through an elaborate and carefully worked system of deceit and double-crossing.

MEETING OF GUN CLUB TO CONSIDER GAME LAWS

An important meeting of the Wascatch Gun club will be held at the Lone Star Barber shop Tuesday evening at which a full attendance of local sportsmen is desired. The object of meeting is to discuss the new game law which will come before the legislature within a few days. President W. H. Richardson of the club states that the proposed new law has been prepared largely to suit Salt Lake hunters and does not give the Ogden sportsman a fair show, inasmuch as the latter is so much farther away from certain hunting grounds. Especially paramount is the matter of the possession limit for ducks, the new bill making the limit fifteen birds, while the local men think twenty-five should be the limit, as in order to secure a good bag, two days must be spent in visiting the grounds near the mouth of the Jordan, which can be reached by the men of Zion in a short time by street car. The sunset closing clause is another matter which is thought necessary. The new bill proposes to allow hunters to operate one hour after sunset, which, it is claimed, will tend to drive the birds away from the feeding grounds. Prompt action is necessary if the new bill is to be amended in the interests of Ogden sportsmen.

The train left San Francisco last night. Traffic between Barstow and Mojave will be tied up for several hours.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE ON NAVAL AFFAIRS

Washington, Jan. 15.—An important conference on the administration of naval matters by the navy department, which may result in the reorganization of the system at present in vogue in that department, was held today. Criticism of the naval administration as at present conducted has resulted in the bringing together today of ten men of wide experience in navy department matters. Those who are in attendance at the meeting in the offices of the secretary of the navy are Supreme Court Justice Wm. H. Moody, ex-Chief of the New York, former secretary of the navy; United States Judge A. G. Dayton of West Virginia, former chairman of the house committee on naval affairs; Herbert L. Satterlee, the present assistant secretary of the navy; Rear Admiral Robey of the navy; retired former commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, Rear Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, retired, Stephen J. Luce, retired, both on special duty at the naval war college, Newport, R. I.; Rear Admiral Wm. M. Folger, retired, former naval club of the United States; W. S. Cowles, chief of the bureau of equipment, and Commander William M. Fullam, of the naval training station at Newport, R. I., who will act as recorder.

Paul Morton presided at the conference. Secretary Newberry announced later that the conference had approved the plans already had put into effect, which include the enlargement of the general board so as to make it representative of all branches of the service and designation of the acting chief of the bureau of construction as chief of the bureau of steam engineering with the possibility of a merger of these bureaus.

TREATIES WITH TWENTY NATIONS NOW SIGNED.

Washington, Jan. 15.—With the signing of an arbitration treaty between the United States and Austria-Hungary at the state department this afternoon, conventions of that character with more than twenty nations of the world have been agreed to. The treaty now goes to the senate for ratification.

Secretary Root also signed an extradition treaty with Honduras. Officials of the state department declined to say whether the treaty is retroactive.

FUNERAL OF LORIN FARR ON THE U. P. BIG CHANGE BY WHISKEY DEALERS

WILL BE ATTENDED BY HEAD OF THE CHURCH.

Among the Speakers Will Be Joseph F. Smith and Fred J. Kiesel, Old Friends of Deceased.

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, funeral services over the remains of Hon. Lorin Farr will be held at the Ogden Tabernacle. All arrangements have been completed by those in charge. During today many friends from all parts of the city and county passed by the bier and for the last time in mortality viewed the countenance of him who, for over sixty years, has been one of the most prominent citizens, not only of the city and county, but of the entire state.

The wealth of beautiful floral tributes, the expressions of love and esteem both uttered and silently expressed by the hosts of friends, only in a slight degree evidenced the sorrow felt in the unexpected demise of Mr. Farr. His mortal form peacefully reposes in a magnificent solid mahogany, electro-copper and metal case, trimmed with massive silver mountings.

Bishop E. A. Olsen, of the Fourth ward, will preside at the funeral services. President Joseph F. Smith of the Latter-Day Saints church, in which church Mr. Farr was one of the oldest members, will be one of the speakers. Others who will speak will be Apostle George A. Smith, President L. W. Shurtliff, Elders Joseph Parry, Moses Thatcher of Logan, Ben E. Rich, president of the Eastern States mission; Patriarch David McKay and Hon. F. J. Kiesel.

Prof. Joseph Ballantyne will have charge of the following musical part of the services:

Hymn, "He Was Beloved By All," Tabernacle Choir.

Duet and chorus, "Thou Art the Way," Misses Maud Behn, Myrtle Bellinger and choir.

Solo and chorus, "Calvary," Miss Ruby Geddis and choir.

Solo and chorus, "O Love Devine," Mr. Caleb Marriott and choir.

Solo and chorus, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," Miss Maud Behn and choir.

The closing prayer will be pronounced by President C. F. Middleton and the benediction by Bishop Chas. W. Nibley.

The remains of Mr. Farr will lie in state at the home of his son, Ezra Farr, 449 21st street, this evening and Sunday morning until 12 o'clock, noon, at which time the casket will be closed to all who are not relatives.

Undertaker Larkin, who has charge of the funeral arrangements, announces that the cortege will leave the home promptly at 1:30 Sunday for the Tabernacle. The west half of the church has been reserved for the immediate family and other relatives of the deceased.

Interment will be in the Ogden City cemetery.

The Region Beyond Alaska.

Capt. Elmer Mikkelsen, the Danish explorer, returned to Copenhagen after his two years' sojourn in the regions north of Alaska. The chief object of the expedition was to decide whether there was land to the north of Alaska or a deep sea. The captain and a Norwegian started in three sledges with 18 dogs on a trip over the ice toward the north. About 50 miles from shore they found water, which they sounded with a newly invented machine to the depth of 1,800 meters without reaching bottom. Sixty miles further on and found water. The captain and his men were recorded, until at last, turning toward the coast, they found bottom. They followed this edge of the continental shelf toward the east, but had soon to return owing to the strong current. Capt. Mikkelsen was thus able to prove that deep water runs north of Alaska to a great distance.

Value of Farm Lands.

Relieved of the pressure of vacant lands, there can be no doubt that the value of farms will continue to rise, and the value of farm products will rise with them. The present depression in the commercial and industrial world has caused no drop in the price of farm products, no particular decrease in the cost of living, and it has increased, if measured by wages.

And so it seems likely to continue for years to come. The ever-increasing population will shortly bring American farm lands to a level with those of western Europe, where tillable land brings from $500 to $600 per acre and the prices of food products are correspondingly high. When that time comes intensive farming will be practiced and farming will be more of an exact science than now.—Indianapolis Star.

Justified His Name.

On opening a new golf course at Tankerton, Whitstable, Eng., recently Mr. Akers-Douglas related a good story. A golfer at Hale had an irritating experience with a local caddie. He followed so closely, and was so anxious to please by intelligent anticipation, that the player had several narrow escapes of severely disfiguring him. After a tedious and unprofitable round he paid him off, gave him his lunch ticket and threatened for cleaning his clubs, and addressed him: "You know you are not quite perfect as a caddie. There is room for improvement. But as an agent for an accident insurance company you are pretty hot stuff. What is your name?" The caddie, a stolid-looking and hitherto silent youth, moved, like Balaam's ass, by the exigencies of the situation, opened his mouth and replied, "Mustard!"

CAUSING MUCH COMMENT IN LOCAL RAILROAD CIRCLES.

Expected That the Shake Up on Harriman Roads Will Reach Ogden in the Near Future.

The news published in this morning's Examiner, to the effect that Charles Ware had been appointed general superintendent of the Union Pacific to succeed W. L. Park, who has been promoted to a position at the head of the operating department on the staff of Julius Kruttschnitt, provoked a great deal of comment at railroad headquarters this morning and was the theme of general discussion. It is known, of course, that Mr. Kruttschnitt is the "whole thing" on all lines of Harriman's western railroad system, except the legal department, and the advance of Superintendent Park to the head of the operating departments of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Oregon Short Line systems, is thought to mean that he will dominate all others on those lines—excepting Mr. Kruttschnitt, of course.

Railroad men see in this announcement a radical change in many important matters in the near future, and the opinion is expressed that some of the more prominent changes are likely to effect Ogden and Ogden interests.

Home Work Needed, Too.

A minister of a fashionable church in Newark has always left the greeting of strangers to be attended to by the ushers until he read the newspaper articles in reference to the matter.

"Suppose a representative should visit our church," said his wife. "Wouldn't it be awful?"

"It would," the minister admitted. The following Sunday evening he noticed a plainly dressed woman in one of the free pews. She sat alone, and was clearly not a member of the flock. After the benediction the minister hastened and intercepted her at the door.

"How do you do?" he said, offering her his hand. "I am very glad to have you with us."

"Thank you," replied the young woman.

"I hope we may see you often in our church home," he went on. "We are always glad to welcome new faces."

"Yes, sir."

"Do you live in this parish?" he asked.

The girl looked blank.

"If you will give me your address my wife and I will call on you some evening."

"You wouldn't need to go far, sir," said the young woman. "I'm your cook."

The Good Intent.

Charles M. Alexander, the evangelist, whose association with Dr. Torrey has made him known throughout the United States and the British empire, is a man of humor, and has, of course, frequently had opportunity to observe those pitfalls of diction into which the excitement of exhortation frequently plunges an enthusiast.

"In New York last winter," he says, "it happened to be on the program when a very earnest and zealous pastor was trying his best to awaken some enthusiasm in his habitually torpid congregation. He told his hearers how lethargic they were; how their religious sense was dying out, and how, if they would save their souls, they must not let it die. At last, insisting upon this almost to the point of hysteria, he fairly shouted:

"Brethren, if you have one single spark of grace remaining, water it!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Extenuating Head Hunters.

All efforts to subdue the "head hunters" of Formosa having been unsuccessful, a campaign of extermination has been entered upon, and now when a company of head hunters is located the place is surrounded by a wire fence. The wires are charged with electricity. The soldiers begin to shoot; the savages stampede, and then the deadly wires get those that the bullets miss. There are about 100,000 of these head hunters infesting the eastern coast of the island, and all efforts to make them desirable citizens have failed. They recently lured a party of 300 Japanese and Chinese into an ambush and killed them all but three, for the mere pleasure of killing.

Their Yell.

A young man stepped into a prominent drug store in Philadelphia and asked for a two-cent stamp. When this was procured he placed it on the letter upside down and went out and mailed it.

The next morning he did the same thing. So finally the druggist got curious. The day after when the young fellow stepped in he asked: "Why do you always stamp your letters upside down?" "Oh, I belong to a correspondence school up the state and that's our yell."

The Gullible Public. "Sometimes," said Uncle Eben, "it 'pears to me like de public was composed of people hangin' 'round wantin' to be fooled. An' dar's allus mo' or less competition among de smart men of de country 'bout who's gwint hab de pleasure of tendin' to de job."—Washington Star.

KOHN LIQUOR COMPANY UNFAIRLY DEALT WITH.

Clever Eastern Schemers Who Obtain $15,000, When Caught Are Willing to Settle on Any Terms.

Telegraphic dispatches were received from New York today in relation to the alleged whiskey swindle involving the Kohn Liquor company of this city, to the effect that the perpetrators are under arrest and that the probability is the matter will be settled satisfactorily. Either the whiskey purchased will be delivered to Mr. Kohn or the money paid by him will be returned.

Stuart M. Kohn, who is a son of Mr. Kohn of this city and is now practicing law in New York city, is handling the case and assures his father that the matter will be adjusted to his satisfaction.

As stated in the morning papers, the deal involves a purchase of a large amount of very fine whiskey from a concern operating under the name of the Mountain Dew Whiskey Co., whose distilleries were alleged to be located in Kentucky and Ohio. The amount quoted in the morning dispatches was $1500. This is an error, the real amount being in the neighborhood of $15,000.

According to the facts as learned today, Mr. Kohn was offered what he considered a big bargain in fine whiskey. So good did the deal seem, that the local merchant took advantage of the offer to the extent of the above-named sum. According to the contract agreed upon with the whiskey agent, $10,000 was paid over in cash, the balance to be paid in 30 days. It is stated that instead of waiting the entire 30 days, the purchaser completed the payment in fifteen days.

After encountering suspicious actions on the part of the whiskey house when an installment of the liquor purchased was ordered delivered, Mr. Kohn instituted an investigation. The result was that the members of the firm selling the goods were arrested upon complaint of Stuart Kohn in New York.

Five barrels of whiskey are now at the freight depot, presumably of inferior grade, and sent on by the alleged dealer in whiskey to appease the wrath of Mr. Kohn.

INCREASE OF SALARIES WILL MEET OPPOSITION.

Washington, Jan. 15.—That the senate amendments to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, increasing the salary of the president to $100,000, of the vice president to $20,000, of the house of representatives to $20,000 each, with an allowance for a carriage of $5,000 each for the vice president and the speaker, are not to be approved without some opposition was shown in the senate today when Senator Borah of Idaho first made a point of order against them as now legislation, and then asked that they be allowed to lie over until the other amendments are disposed of in order that they may be discussed later.

Mr. Clay of Georgia also asked that all proposed increases of salaries of judges, aggregating $225,000, be dealt with in the same manner.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—The will of Joseph Wharton, the iron master, who died recently, was admitted to probate today. It disposed of an estate estimated at $25,000,000. Mr. Wharton gives practically all his fortune to his widow, three daughters, and his grandchildren. Swarthmore College is given $100,000, and $500,000 to the Wharton School of Finance and Economy of the University of Pennsylvania.

REPUBLICANS DETERMINE TO DEFEAT CHAMBERLAIN

Portland, Jan. 15.—While Governor Chamberlain has 52 votes pledged to support him for United States senator next Tuesday, which is more than enough to insure his election, the Republican leaders of Oregon are determined to defeat him if possible. The anti-Chamberlain members of the legislature have signed a call for a conference to meet Monday night at Salem and endeavor to agree on some one Republican candidate against Chamberlain, a Democrat.

Ralph E. Williams, national committeeman for Oregon, states that he will try every possible legitimate means of preventing the election of a Democrat, and do all within his power to secure the election of a Republican. Williams declares that the pledges which have been made to support the people's choice for United States senator are not binding and that there is no reason why any of the fifty-two should keep them unless they so desire. If it is impossible to defeat Chamberlain, then Williams at least wants the thirty-eight opponents of Chamberlain to vote for a Republican, "in order to prove to the rest of the country that the state has not been turned over to the Democrats."

Assisting Williams is Ormsby McHarg, who was sent to Oregon during the presidential campaign by the national committee. Whether McHarg comes in an official capacity to use his influence or whether as an individual, has not been revealed, either by himself or the other men opposing the election of the Democratic candidate.

The conference Monday night will be resolved into a caucus. From present indications it does not appear possible to meet Monday night at Salem and endeavor to agree on some one Republican aspirant.

FRENCH SHIP, ALICE DRIVEN ASHORE

Astoria, Ore., Jan. 15.—The French three masted ship, Alice, bound from London to Portland, went ashore during a gale at daylight today at Ocean Park, about 20 miles up the Washington coast from the mouth of the Columbia river. It is understood that the crew got safely ashore. There is a long shallow sandy beach at Ocean Park, and the wrecked vessel should lie there in pretty good shape, though it is a difficult beach from which to get off a vessel into deep water, once she is hard and fast aground, as the Alice is believed to be. No details of the wreck are obtainable here. The Alice is cement-laden and was consigned to Hind, Ralph & Co., of Portland.
